

THIS IS AN EXAMPLE DECK

It's deliberately bad. Really bad. We sure hope your slides are better than these.

Do not use this slide template for to impress. It won't. It can't.

Okay, let's go to the next slide. To do so: Either click the slide, hit the spacebar or use the right arrow key.

THAT WAS SIMPLE, RIGHT?

Right.

You're here on slide #2 and audio from your microphone is being recorded.

Say “Hello” and perhaps your name and then go to the next slide.

WHAT'S HAPPENING

- Your voice is being recorded.
- Transition times between slides are being recorded.

Next slide...

WHY?

So after the presentation is complete, you can share the captured presentation and your viewers will have a great experience consuming it, in whatever manner they so choose.

They can skim through, jump around or sit back and just listen and learn.

BY THE WAY....

To stop presenting before you reach the last slide, just hit the 'esc' key.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

- Does this do what you want it to?
- Does it work well? Any problems? Bugs?
- Do you think that Ryan Gosling is not only a beautiful person, but also a great actor?

Thanks.

If you've made it this far, you should know that we really appreciate it.

Apologies for the deliberately horrible slides and thanks for any feedback you may have provided and for taking Presentious for a spin.

If you'd like to chat about your experience, send an e-mail to: presentious@gmail.com